Re: Supplemental Notice of Data Event

Dear Sir or Madam:

We continue to represent Lower LLC (“Lower”) located at 8621 Robert Fulton Drive, Suite 150 Columbia, MD 21046. We write to supplement our August 2, 2022 notice to your office. By providing this notice, Lower does not waive any rights or defenses regarding the applicability of Delaware law, the applicability of the Delaware data event notification statute, or personal jurisdiction.

On January 14, 2022 Lower began providing written notice of this incident to potentially affected individuals. Additional written notices were mailed on February 24, 2022, which included five (5) Delaware residents, on May 27, 2022, which included three hundred sixty-four (364) Delaware residents, and August 2, 2022, which included four hundred forty-three (443) Delaware residents. On or about September 6, 2022, Lower’s investigation determined that the name and Social Security number of an additional six (6) Delaware residents were present on involved systems. Lower also stores information in its systems such as date of birth, driver’s license number, and financial account number. Therefore, it is possible some of this information may have also been on an involved system if an individual provided it to Lower. Lower will continue with its notification efforts by mailing notices on October 6, 2022, to the additional six (6) Delaware residents in substantially the same form as the letter attached here as Exhibit A.

Monitor Your Accounts

Under U.S. law, a consumer is entitled to one free credit report annually from each of the three major credit reporting bureaus, Equifax, Experian, and TransUnion. To order your free credit report, visit www.annualcreditreport.com or call, toll-free, 1-877-322-8228. You may also directly contact the three major credit reporting bureaus listed below to request a free copy of your credit report.

Consumers have the right to place an initial or extended “fraud alert” on a credit file at no cost. An initial fraud alert is a 1-year alert that is placed on a consumer’s credit file. Upon seeing a fraud alert display on a consumer’s credit file, a business is required to take steps to verify the consumer’s identity before extending new credit. If you are a victim of identity theft, you are entitled to an extended fraud alert, which is a fraud alert lasting seven years. Should you wish to place a fraud alert, please contact any one of the three major credit reporting bureaus listed below.

As an alternative to a fraud alert, consumers have the right to place a “credit freeze” on a credit report, which will prohibit a credit bureau from releasing information in the credit report without the consumer’s express authorization. The credit freeze is designed to prevent credit, loans, and services from being approved in your name without your consent. However, you should be aware that using a credit freeze to take control over who gets access to the personal and financial information in your credit report may delay, interfere with, or prohibit the timely approval of any subsequent request or application you make regarding a new loan, credit, mortgage, or any other account involving the extension of credit. Pursuant to federal law, you cannot be charged to place or lift a credit freeze on your credit report. To request a credit freeze, you will need to provide the following information:

1. Full name (including middle initial as well as Jr., Sr., II, III, etc.);
2. Social Security number;
3. Date of birth;
4. Addresses for the prior two to five years;
5. Proof of current address, such as a current utility bill or telephone bill;
6. A legible photocopy of a government-issued identification card (state driver’s license or ID card, etc.); and
7. A copy of either the police report, investigative report, or complaint to a law enforcement agency concerning identity theft if you are a victim of identity theft.

Should you wish to place a fraud alert or credit freeze, please contact the three major credit reporting bureaus listed below:
